WE ARE HONORED to have stood alongside all of you as we worked steadily this past year toward advancing the most critical programs and system changes that will uplift and inspire our keiki.

Strong community collaborations, educational innovations, and key local and global partnerships have been vital to propelling our learners toward knowledge, a greater connection to their culture, and the career paths of purpose and industry.

In every way, our work and our efforts encircle our keiki and launch them on a journey to explore their potential, to develop the skills, tools and insights that will help them lead the lāhui and inspire their communities and the world.

We look forward to fiscal year 2019 as we stay the course while further sharpening our focus on learners and systems.

E lilo nō ho‘i nā haumāna he mau alaka‘i ‘ike loa e ho‘oikaika ana i ko lākou kaiāulu kūloko a me ke kaiāulu nui o ka honua a puni.

WITHIN A GENERATION of 25 years, we see a thriving lāhui where our learners achieve post-secondary educational success, enabling good life and career choices. We also envision that our learners will be grounded in Christian and Hawaiian values and will be leaders who contribute to their communities, both locally and globally.

ON THE FOLLOWING pages are eight stories that showcase the different facets of our work at Kamehameha Schools, from education and economic development to investment in community and business innovation. They are just eight examples of the many ways in which KS furthered its mission and vision in 2018 through MAKAWALU - the practice of seeking insight and impact through multiple perspectives.

This practice is strengthened by the fact that every one of our employees and partners shares a common cause: the betterment of our keiki. Keiki at the Center. It's a simple but powerful idea. And as the following stories show, it challenges us to work together, to be bolder, to reach into our past and build a stronger lāhui for a new generation of Hawaiian learners and for those to come.

“There are a lot of opportunities to align the work, to think bigger, to think at multiple levels of change.” - Kēhaulani Pu‘u

“PUTTING KEIKI AT THE CENTER, that helps us find common ground,” explains Kēhaulani Pu‘u, department director for Kealākūlia, which provides culture-based education and academic and career counseling programs to middle school, high school, and postsecondary students. Her counselors and kumu work directly within communities and schools across the pae ‘āina. Most of their 7,500-plus haumāna attend, or have graduated from, one of the state’s public or Hawaiian-focused charter schools.

Kēhaulani Pu‘u

Community education is made up of many different stakeholders, and recently, there’s been a push for greater synergy. “You’re trying to make impact and create change at multiple levels,” says Pu‘u, “it’s complex work.” One of the bright spots is a framework of learning outcomes called Nā Hopena A‘o, introduced by the Hawai‘i State Department of Education in 2015. Over the last two years, Kealākūlia has carefully integrated its outcomes into curriculum, creating closer alignment with the work of their DOE partners.

Designed to foster an education environment that strengthens a child’s sense of belonging, responsibility, excellence, aloha, total well-being, and Hawai‘i, Nā Hopena A‘o is rooted in Hawaiian culture.

NINETY PERCENT of a child’s brain development occurs in the first five years of life. It’s in this critical period when children build their foundation for learning, the strength of which is shaped by factors ranging from the child’s health to the availability of care and schooling.

Ensuring that this foundation is pa‘a is a kūleana that Kamehameha Schools shares with other advocates like the Early Learning Board (ELB), the governing body that oversees the state’s Executive Office on Early Learning. “I see KS as a critical thought partner helping to shape the early learning system,” says board chair Dr. Robert Peters. “KS brings expertise about underserved populations and other important issues before the ELB in ways that not too many others can.”

As a member of ELB, KS supported the development of a comprehensive strategy for Hawai‘i’s early childhood education system. This culminated in the 2018 release of the Early Childhood State Plan, a first-of-its-kind framework that seeks greater alignment of families, caregivers, kumu, healthcare professionals, and community members around children’s unique needs from birth to the age of 8. “The completion of that plan, facilitated by support from KS, was a huge milestone for us; we now have a framework to move forward,” Peters says.

“IT’S NEVER NO. It’s always yes, but how?” This is the response Andrew Lai often gives his students as the newly created Student Leadership Activities director at KS Kapālama. The 2018-19 school year was the high school program’s pilot year and features a yearlong leadership course that all members of student government take. One of the program’s central goals is to build students’ leadership skills through the process of planning and executing events, so some of the functions of Student Activities have been incorporated into Student Leadership.

Everything they do is student-led, from weighing in on campus policies, to organizing social functions, to promoting community and civic engagement. Take last November’s voter drive, which resulted in a group of eight seniors casting their ballots at Honolulu Hale for the first time. “They definitely have voices, and they’re learning how to find them, and that’s what I enjoy about watching them go through that process,” Lai says. “The biggest life lesson for them is just figuring how to navigate the world of leading their friends while still being their friends.”

“The essence of being an effective leader, that has not changed; how we get there, that’s what’s changed.” - Kumu Andrew Lai

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT is the process of moving a community toward change, and for Marion Paul, president of Kaua’i Planning & Action Alliance (KPAA), flexibility is key. “Change is a living process,” she adds.

Her group’s central initiative is called Keiki to Career, a broad effort that involves over 40 organizations working to support Kaua’i’s youth. The initiative’s newest project is the Kaua’i Resilience Project, launched in 2018. Developed in response to data showing that 9% of Kaua’i’s high schoolers have attempted suicide, the Resilience Project equips young people with the tools they need to navigate through hardship. It’s just one of KPAA’s many programs that prepare keiki for life’s transitions.

KPAA serves as the effort’s backbone, coordinating the many hands and resources that have supported Keiki to Career since its start in 2011, including those from Kamehameha Schools. “We really do believe that it takes everyone,” Paul says. “It’s not any one organization, or government, or business; it’s every one of them, and that’s how we hope to have an impact.”

REPORT ON

Financial Activities

JULY 1, 2017 — JUNE 30, 2018

FORWARDING MISSION

Kamehameha Schools completed the third year of its Strategic Plan (2015-2020) (SP2020) the first in a series of strategic plans outlining how the organization will accomplish its Vision 2040.

Moving toward this future, SP2020 contains five goals: deliver world class, culture based education through a network of Native Hawaiian schools; contribute to communities' collective efforts to improve education systems for Native Hawaiian learners; cultivate a strong Native Hawaiian identity; execute as a high-performing, mission-driven organization; and optimize the strength, breadth, and strategic alignment of KS resources.

Vision 2040 states

“Within a generation of 25 years, we see a thriving lāhui where our learners achieve postsecondary educational success, enabling good life and career choices. We also envision that our learners will be grounded in Christian and Hawaiian values and will be leaders who contribute to their communities, both locally and globally.”

Endowment

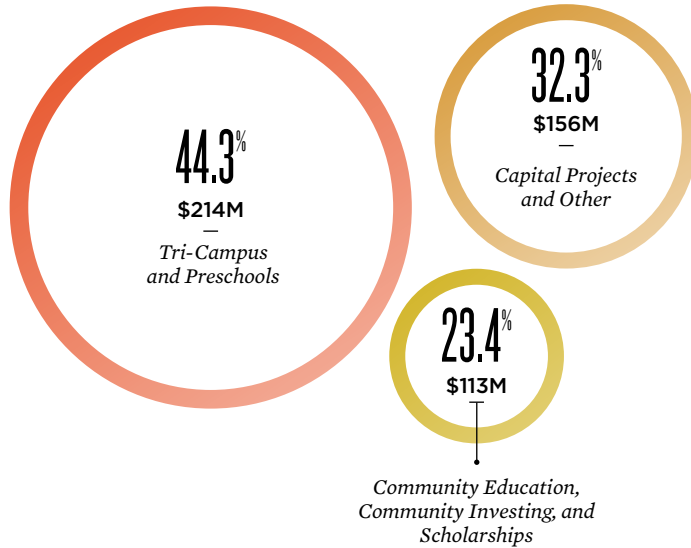

KAMEHAMEHA SCHOOLS TRUST

» Kamehameha Schools' mission is primarily supported by its endowment. The endowment was valued at $11.9 billion as of June 30, 2018. A globally diversified financial assets portfolio of $8.2 billion, and Hawai'i commercial real estate representing $3.7 billion at fair market value comprise the endowment's value.

KAMEHAMEHA SCHOOLS TRUST SPENDING

» For the fiscal year, Kamehameha Schools spent $483 million from its endowment on education, representing 4.5% of the five-year average value of the endowment. KS' spending policy targets a sustainable 4% of the five-year average value of the endowment to provide for stability and financial equilibrium over time. In close alignment with the policy, the average spending rate for the past five years was 3.9%. The 4.5% rate for the most recent year reflected the settlement of a lawsuit.

Kamehameha Schools is a private charitable educational trust endowed by the will of Hawaiian princess Bernice Pauahi Bishop (1831-1884), the great-granddaughter and last direct descendant of King Kamehameha I.

During her lifetime, Princess Pauahi witnessed the rapid decline of the Native Hawaiian population. She knew that education would be key to the survival of her people, and in an enduring act of aloha, she bequeathed to them a precious gift — 375,000 acres of ancestral lands of the royal Kamehameha family and instructions to her trustees that the “rest, residue and remainder of my estate” be used to establish the Kamehameha Schools.

Today, Ke Ali'i Pauahi's legacy continues to advance her desire to restore her people through education.

Endowment

INVESTMENT RETURNS

► The goal of Kamehameha Schools' endowment is to provide superior risk-adjusted long-term returns to support its mission in perpetuity. The 10-year return added value versus a policy-weighted average of market benchmarks and fell just short of its CPI + 5% objective of 6.4%, an objective designed to provide for real growth and financial equilibrium.

Normalizing Hawaiian

“NA KĀKOU A PAU KĒIA HUAKA‘I HELE,”

wahi a Ke‘ala Kwan mai ka papahana ‘o ‘Ōlelo Kahua, i ho‘okumu ‘ia ma 2015. Ma lalo o ke alaka‘i ‘ana o Keoni Kelekolio me ke kōkua pa‘a mau o Kwan a me nā hoa kumu o ka hui ‘o Ho‘okahua Cultural Vibrancy, ho‘omākaukau ‘ia a a‘o ‘ia nō ho‘i nā papa ‘ōlelo Hawai‘i i kēlā me kēia mahina no nā limahana o Kamehameha.

I kēlā makahiki aku nei, ua hō‘ea i ka hapalua like o ka papahana, he papahana e kūkulu ana i ke kahua ‘ike ‘ōlelo Hawai‘i no ka hui holo‘oko‘a. Wehewehe mai ‘o Kwan, “O kekahi hō‘ailona o ka ho‘okuluma ‘ōlelo Hawai‘i, ua ‘oi aku ka pinepine o ka ‘ōlelo ‘ia, ka lohe ‘ia, ka ‘ike ‘ia, o ka ‘ōlelo.” A ke ‘ike nei nō ‘o ia i nā loli li‘ili‘i a me nā loli nui ma nā ke‘ena hana: ‘o ka wehe ‘ana i ka hālāwai me ka ‘ōlelo ho‘olauna a me ka pule; ke kau ‘ana o ka ha‘awina ‘ōlelo pōkole ma nā ‘eleweka o Kawaiha‘o Plaza; ke kōkua ‘ana i ka hoa ke‘ena ma ka ho‘olālā ‘ana i hanana paipai ‘ōlelo Hawai‘i.

I kēia manawa, ua ‘oi aku ka laha o ka ‘ōlelo Hawai‘i ma Ke Kula ‘O Kamehameha, a no Kwan, he hō‘ailona maika‘i ia o ke kūlana hou o ka ‘ōlelo—ke hele nei a laha loa, a lilo i mea kuluma. “He mea nui ka ho‘āmana ‘ana i ka po‘e e hele a e ho‘okō,” pēlā kāna i koikoi ai.

“WE ENTERED THIS JOURNEY as a kākou effort,” says Ke‘ala Kwan of the ‘Ōlelo Kahua Hawaiian Language Foundations initiative that he helped launch in 2015. Led by his colleague Keoni Kelekolio, Kwan and his fellow kumu from the Ho‘okahua Cultural Vibrancy group design and deliver the monthly ‘ōlelo Hawai‘i classes that every employee at Kamehameha Schools takes.

Last year marked the halfway point for a program that’s building an organization-wide foundation in ‘ōlelo Hawai‘i. “Normalization is simply more of it,” Kwan explains, and in big and small ways, he has seen ‘Ōlelo Kahua gradually transform the workplace around him: from hearing more of his colleagues open meetings with pule and ho‘olauna (introductions in ‘ōlelo Hawai‘i), to seeing short vocabulary lessons posted in the Kawaiha‘o Plaza elevator, to helping a neighboring department organize an ‘ōlelo-friendly social event.

‘Ōlelo Hawai‘i at Kamehameha Schools is more commonplace than ever, and for Kwan, it’s the sign of a new norm. “Part of it is that you’re empowered, now go do it,” he nudges.

IN RECENT YEARS, Kamehameha Schools’ vision as landowner has evolved. Not only must our commercial properties generate income to support the educational mission, they must also create real and widely shared value in their communities.

This basic principle has led to a development approach that prioritizes matters of housing and transit, the local economy, and the presence of arts, culture, and public space. “I believe we are at a tipping point for the future of living in Hawai’i,” says Walter Thoemmes, managing director of Commercial Real Estate Development. “As a community, we cannot do things the same way, or plan for communities the same way, as has been done for the past 60 years.”

Next up for reinvestment is Kapālama Kai, where Kamehameha Schools owns 105 acres of commercial land. In 2018, the area’s renewal took a major step forward with the Board of Trustees’ approval of a 20-year master plan that calls for a strong industrial business base, increased kama’āina housing, and ways of getting around that reduce car dependency. “It’s transformative change not just for the bottom line,” says Thoemmes, “but really for the benefit of that entire community.”

“We want to understand what the communities of tomorrow need to be for Hawai’i.” - Walter Thoemmes

“There’s no exit strategy for us, as a business or as a movement. The end goal is systems of abundance, living here in perpetuity.”

Keoni Lee

“IT STARTS WITH YOUR WORLDVIEW and values,” explains Keoni Lee, co-founder of Waiwai Collective, on the topic of innovation. Waiwai Collective is the hui behind Ka Waiwai, a contemporary Hawaiian space located in Mō’ili’ili and a seedbed project for Kamehameha Schools Strategy and Innovation Group. What sat as an empty ground floor space in the KS-owned Varsity Building has been transformed into an inviting mix of color, texture, and ‘ōlelo Hawai’i.

Ka Waiwai is designed to build community around a set of outcomes that align with a Hawaiian worldview: balance, reciprocity, face-to-face interactions, ‘āina-based. “How do we put that mindset into practice?” Lee asks. It’s what he and his partners Mahinapoepoe Duarte and Jamie Makasobe set out to explore when they opened Ka Waiwai in October of 2017.

In 2018, over 15,000 people visited the space to share ‘awa and mo’olelo, to listen to mele and mana’o, to co-work and collaborate. “Giving the lāhui a place to experience these things makes it easier to understand where we need and want to go for our future,” Lee says. “We are not prescribing exactly what that future is but rather co-creating it with community.”

MANAOLA YAP HAS BEEN A CREATIVE entrepreneur for a long time. He built his first business out of his Kohala bedroom, transforming it into a showroom of collectibles sourced from Asia and shopped by designers from the nearby resorts.

It’s this mix of imagination, heritage, and business smarts that has fueled the rapid rise of MANAOLA, Yap’s fashion and lifestyle brand. Since launching in 2016, MANAOLA’s distinct blend of ancestral ways and sophisticated design has attracted a devoted following. His success has redefined what’s possible for a brand whose identity is deeply and unapologetically Hawaiian.

In 2018, Yap unveiled a new non-profit arm to MANAOLA called Hale Kua. “We have a lot of people who have been inspired by the MANAOLA story,” he explains. “The basis of Hale Kua is to help entrepreneurs of kānaka-based businesses that want to move into commerce, but want to translate it in a way that they still feel pono and is pono.”

With funding assistance from Kamehameha Schools, last year, Hale Kua completed the first of five mentoring phases with a diverse cohort of young artists, chefs, designers and musicians. Yap brought them to Hawai‘i island and introduced them to the sites and practices that are significant to his ‘ohana. Their first lesson? Inspiration.

Continuing Pauahi's Legacy of Giving

PAUAHI FOUNDATION

Aloha mai kākou,

Ke Ali'i Bernice Pauahi Bishop is considered by many as one of Hawai'i's greatest philanthropists. Her aloha for her people and true servant leadership created a legacy that has impacted thousands of Native Hawaiian learners in their pursuit of better and enriching lives through education.

Often times, we forget that she did not act alone. Her husband, Charles Reed Bishop, was instrumental in carrying out her wishes set forth in her will, and ultimately, laying the foundation for Kamehameha Schools.

Today, Pauahi's legacy is carried forward by a hui of supporters who have accepted the kuleana of uplifting the Hawaiian community. These include the many beneficiaries who were provided with educational opportunities along with a hui of supporters who believe in our mission — and now choose to pay it forward by giving with Pauahi.

On behalf of Kamehameha Schools, and its fundraising arm, the Pauahi Foundation, I want to mahalo the more than 1,000 donors who have come together to create a thriving lāhui by making a gift to the foundation. Collectively, this hui has generated over $1.3 million for post-high scholarships for fiscal year 2018.

Of great significance are the many learners served from the selfless generosity of our donors. Last year, more than 200 students pursued a post-high education thanks to a scholarship from the foundation.

AS WE CELEBRATE THESE RESULTS, LET'S BUILD ON THIS MOMENTUM AND INSPIRE OTHERS TO JOIN IN.

With the Hawaiian population expected to reach more than 873,000 by 2040, the need to come together to uplift all Hawaiian learners is imperative. Together, we can make a difference and help our community thrive by giving with Pauahi. I mua!

Mahalo nui,

TARA WILSON

Director of Advancement, Kamehameha Schools

Executive Director, Pauahi Foundation

2017-2018 Donors

Our giving hui celebrates the diversity of our donors and the impact of their gifts. The section that follows acknowledges donors with gifts $250 and above. Highlighted within each group are donors who, over the years, have attained a significant level of cumulative giving (5+ and 10+ years of consecutive years).

KA HUI KŪLANIHĀKO‘I

$10,000 OR MORE

Kūlanihāko‘i is the source of rain in the clouds. It is the mythical pond or a lake in the sky. It is said that when Kūlanihāko‘i overflows it creates rain for the Hawaiian people. The overflowing generosity from donors in this hui makes a lasting impact into perpetuity.

KA HUI 'OHU

$100 – $249

The 'ohu mist is a light misty cloud that covers mountains such as Haleakalā from top to bottom. This mist is also associated with great beauty. This giving level includes supporters whose gifts total from $100 to $249 during the fiscal year. Donors in this hui see the potential beauty that can come from the commitment of a gift.

KA HUI KILIHUNE

$1 - $99

Kilihune is a fine light windblown mist. Just like a fine mist, donors surround us with their support. This hui highlights the importance of the act of giving and all gifts can make a difference. The hui was established to honor donors who made contributions of $1 to $99 during the fiscal year.

I Mua Nā Haumāna

2017-2018 Scholarship Recipients

THE PAUHI FOUNDATION DISBURSED OVER $698,000 in scholarships to more than 200 Native Hawaiian learners last fiscal year. Recipients ranged from high school seniors from Kamehameha Schools and other private and public high schools to current college students. We also continue to see a rise in the number of non-traditional students who are now seeking the opportunity to obtain a college education.

Our continued success is due to the many donors who have established and/or funded these educational opportunities. Pauhi's legacy lives on through their generosity.

200+ Native Hawaiian learners

LEANNE KEALOHA FOX, PH.D.
BIOMEDICAL SCIENCES

Recipient of the Bernice Leinani Kuakini and Henry Keanu Ahlo Scholarship, the Ashley Meleana Joy Scholarship and George Hi'ilani Mills Scholarship

As a young mother working full-time, Dr. Kealoa Fox's post-high educational path was an arduous one, but she was driven to succeed for her

'ohana and for the betterment of the lāhui.

With support from family members and scholarships from the Pauhi Foundation, Fox culminated her nine-year journey in 2017 with a doctorate degree in biomedical sciences from the University of Hawai'i at Mānoa's John A. Burns School of Medicine.

TANEESHA ASING
BACHELOR OF ARTS CANDIDATE, EDUCATION

Recipient of the Kamehameha Schools Class of 1960 Scholarship

Taneesha Asing knows firsthand the value of a quality education.

Born and raised in Papakōlea, O'ahu, Asing witnessed the struggles of homestead life - using the experience as motivation to work hard and excel in the public school system.

After initially planning to pursue medicine in college, she changed her major to education – a passion she developed after realizing she loved helping others by sharing her knowledge. With kōkua from the Pauhi Foundation's Kamehameha Schools Class of 1960 Scholarship, she is on path to earn her degree by 2020, and ultimately, achieve her dream job as an elementary school teacher.

2017-2018 Scholarship Recipients

Mahalo nui to the thousands of donors who made the choice to join the Pauahi Foundation in uplifting our lāhui. Your gift ensures that more of our Hawaiian learners have a chance at a better life through education.

Why we give

CARIANN AH LOO KSK'91

WARREN NAKUPUNA AH LOO MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP
NAKUPUNA FOUNDATION

“We have a responsibility to continue Pauahi’s legacy of service and uplift our community. If you can be part of the solution and affect change, why wouldn’t you give back? Together, we can accomplish extraordinary things.”

CARIANN AH LOO IS LIVING THE DREAM, helping to realize her father’s vision of providing educational opportunities for Native Hawaiians, uplifting the lāhui and making even more dreams come true.

Ah Loo said that after her father, an industrial engineer, retired from a career with the Department of Defense, he had two aspirations: to run a successful and thriving Native Hawaiian owned company; and to establish a foundation that would provide scholarships to students of Native Hawaiian ancestry who demonstrated academic excellence and an interest in contributing to the betterment of the Hawaiian community.

Sure enough, Warren N. Ah Loo KSK'65 opened his own company, Na Ali'i

Consulting & Sales, but passed away unexpectedly before he was able to see his second vision come to fruition.

“My ‘ohana decided that creating a scholarship in my dad’s name would be a fitting way to honor a man who valued education and believed education was the way to elevate the Hawaiian community. We partnered with Pauahi Foundation in 2016 and established The Warren Nakupuna Ah Loo Memorial Scholarship,” Ah Loo said.

Since then, the Ah Loo ‘ohana has created the Nakupuna Foundation, whose mission is to support the economic advancement of Native Hawaiians through educational programs and opportunities, specifically focusing on areas of science, technology, engineering, and math.

“Selecting the first recipient of the scholarship was truly a momentous event for my ‘ohana because it solidified my dad’s legacy,” Ah Loo said. “It is rewarding to know that you can make a difference in someone’s life.

“Several generations of my immediate and extended ‘ohana are beneficiaries of Pauahi’s generosity. For those of us who had the privilege of attending Kamehameha Schools, we were given the opportunity to build strong foundations that have shaped our lives.

“If I could mahalo Pauahi, I would thank her for the opportunities her legacy afforded us. And I would also tell her that I hope that we have lived up to her expectations of being good and industrious men and women.”

ALVIN PAU'OLE KSK'56

USS KAMEHAMEHA SCHOLARSHIP

ALVIN PAU'OLE has accomplished a lot in his life. He was the first minority in the nation to be selected to the Navy's Nuclear Power Training Program, the only Native Hawaiian to serve as chief engineer of a nuclear reactor plant, and the only Hawaiian to command a fast attack nuclear submarine and a squadron of nuclear submarines. The 30-year veteran credits his achievements to his upbringing on Kaua'i combined with his educational experience at Kamehameha Schools.

After retiring in 1990 as a captain with numerous medals, Pau'ole went on to a successful post-military career in nuclear engineering. Being a leader in his field fueled his desire to create opportunities for Native Hawaiians. To that end, Pau'ole cofounded the Pacific American Foundation which offers culture- and place-based education to prepare young Hawaiians for careers in fields ranging from robotics to finance.

Recently, as a board member for the Pacific Fleet Submarine Memorial Association (PFSMA), he facilitated a partnership between PFSMA and the Pauahi Foundation to create the USS Kamehameha Scholarship for Native Hawaiians pursuing degrees in STEM or business-related fields.

Pau'ole said he gives with Pauahi because he wants to help more Native Hawaiians emerge as community leaders by giving them the gift of education, as knowledge is the backbone of leadership.

“I'm grateful for what Kamehameha Schools has done in preparing us to be successful beyond high school. I'd like to see many more Hawaiians achieve great things and maybe one day we'll even have a Hawaiian president of the United States.”

JIM AND KIM SLAGEL

ODELL & HASTINGS SCHOLARSHIP FUND

“The students at Kamehameha Schools have the desire and passion to be leaders in the community. It's our jobs as teachers to provide that avenue for them.”

KAMEHAMEHA SCHOOLS Kapālama High School English kumu Jim Slagel and wife Kim — a former KSK math kumu — believe in the transformational power of community service. Together, they have inspired countless students to strive for excellence in the classroom as well as in their communities.

As student advisors, the Slagels helped create the Amnesty International Club, giving students an avenue to learn about and address local, national and world issues. They also helped establish KSK's Cat and Dog Huggers Club to care for the feral cat colony on campus and assist local animal shelters. The animal lovers even brought their beloved basset hounds, Odell and Hastings, to school to launa with students and staff.

In 2015, the Slagels and the campus 'ohana mourned the unexpected passing of the dogs. At the suggestion of fellow teachers Alohi Aea and Shari Chan, the Slagels established the Odell and Hastings Scholarship Fund for students who have demonstrated stellar community service with a focus on the environment and/or animals. With donations from students, faculty and family, the fund has grown and will be awarding its first scholarship in 2020.

It is through this scholarship and many other community service endeavors that the Slagels give with Pauahi. They do not give to receive credit or recognition, but to grow servant leaders to make the world a better place.

Eight Stories, One Vision

MA KĒIA HŌ‘IKE KŪ MAKAHIKI, ke ka‘ana ‘ia nei he ‘ewalu mau mo‘olelo e wehewehe ana i ke alu like ‘ana o Ke Kula ‘O Kamehameha me nā kaiaulu a me nā ‘ohana no ka ho‘oikaika ‘ana i ka ‘ōnaehana ho‘ona‘auao e ho‘omakakoho ana i ka pono o nā keiki, ‘o ia ka mea nui. E lilo ia i mea e ola i nā ‘ōpio o ka lāhui.

THE EIGHT STORIES featured in this year’s annual report showcase the ways in which Kamehameha Schools, in partnership with community and ‘ohana, works to strengthen an educational system that places keiki at the center. As we reflect on the many accomplishments of FY 2018, we hear echoes of the following ‘ōlelo no‘eau: E kanu mea ‘ai o nānā keiki i kā ha‘i. Plant edible food plants lest your children look with longing at someone else’s. We close this year’s annual report in hopes that it has captured the richness of ideas, efforts, and innovations presently under cultivation across the pae ‘aina. May they nourish the young minds of the lāhui.
